

COVID-19 SCAMS

We've seen an increase in malicious emails, mobile applications and websites promoting fraudulent COVID-19 information. However, there are things you can do to protect your personal information.

TEXT MESSAGES

Do not click on text message links from unknown senders or with a title advertising important COVID-19 information

EMAILS

Don't click on emails that appear to be from an unknown source or contains a link and a short message with a tone of urgency.

THIRD PARTY APPS

Don't download third-party apps or websites that advertise they have the latest COVID-19 information. Instead rely on information from the CDC, WHO, OCHhealth or AlertOC.
